MORE HISTORY.

The following is a verbatim copy of one of the subscription papers circulated in Glendale, and the conditions upon which the people of this section contributed their money to L. C. Brand for the building of the electric road.

Note how few of the conditions were complied with. The paper was drawn up in the office of L. C. Brand.

"WHEREAS, An Electric Railway, running from the City of Los Angeles to Glendale, will increase the value of our several holdings, and,

"WHEREAS, On raising the sum of four ($4,000.00) dollars to pay for the rights of way and furnishing the same to the Los Angeles and Glendale Electric Railway Company, said Railway Company will construct an Electric Railroad from the City of Los Angeles to the junction of Fourth (4th) street and Glendale avenue in Glendale, and will make a commutation rate of fare from Glendale to Los Angeles of ten (10) cents, and running cars thereon each day, at least once an hour during the day from 6 a. m. to 12 o'clock midnight, of each day;

"NOW, THEREFORE, We the undersigned, hereby subscribe and agree to pay to M. M. Eshelman, as trustee and collector, the sum set opposite our respective names, to be by him used in paying for the rights of way over the lines selected by the said Railway Company; and the said M. M. Eshelman, receiving the total sum of four thousand dollars, ($4,000.00), he shall pay the same out for said rights of way on the order of the president and secretary of the joint committee of the Tropico and Glendale Associations, said payments to be made on demand, to said Eshelman, by the said subscribers.

"The route of said road is as follows: Commencing at or near a point on the corner of Ceres avenue and Central avenue near the Arcade Depot in the City of Los Angeles; thence along Ceres avenue to Sixth street; thence along Sixth to Olive street; along Olive avenue to Seventh street; along Seventh to Figueroa street; along Figueroa to Second street; on Second to Lake Shore avenue; along Lake Shore avenue to Montana street; thence through private property to Griffith Park to the Los Angeles river; thence through land, owned by Mr. Richardson, to Tropico; thence along Tropico avenue to lots owned by Arthur Logan; thence across Central avenue and through the Jarvis Place to the line between Mr. Stepper and Mr. Davenport; thence north through the lands owned by H. C. Goodell and others to "N" street in the town of Glendale; thence along "N" street to Fourth street; thence easterly on Fourth street to Glendale avenue.

"The said Los Angeles and Glendale Railway Company has deposited ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) with the Merchants' National Bank which they agree to forfeit to the Glendale and Tropico Improvement associations in case they fail to have the said road in actual operation between Los Angeles and Glendale within six months after the right of way has been secured from San Fernando road in Tropico to the intersection of Fourth street and Glendale avenue in Glendale, and in the event of the forfeiture of said amount to said associations, an amount sufficient to refund all money herein paid by the undersigned, shall be used in refunding to each and every subscriber, the amount he has paid to M. M. Eshelman."

BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

All members present. The following demands were referred to the finance committee: J. C. Beldin, $10.50; Riggs & Sherer, $15.15.

Demands amounting to $225.27, previously referred to the finance committee, were reported back favorably and warrants ordered issued for the same.

In regard to the demand of the Electric Light company for lights in May, amounting to $36.30, the committee to whom the same had been referred recommended that it be allowed. A warrant was ordered to be issued for the same and the clerk was instructed to communicate with the lighting company, informing them that in the estimation of the board there was during the month of May a shortage of 25 per cent. on the four lights located at Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard. The request of Contractor Mock for an extension of thirty days' time on the Fourth street contract for the street work, was granted.

A bid for the printing and publishing for the City of Glendale, for the next fiscal year or any part of it, was received from the Valley Independent. Trustee Anderson, of the printing committee reported that the committee thought best to recommend that the printing contract be drawn up to expire January 1st, 1908. On motion the matter of a new contract was referred to the committee of the whole to report at next meeting.

The health officer was authorized to have 200 blanks printed for the purpose of notifying when necessary in regard to the requirements of the ordinance regulating the construction and location of privy vaults. Trustees Anderson and Watson appointed a committee to confer with the city marshal in regard to his bond. The street superintendent reported that property owners on Fifth street east of Glendale avenue desired the proposed street improvements on said street done under the bond act. Property owners in general on Fifth street, west of the avenue desire the work done according to the proceedings already started, in accordance with the Vrooman act.

Trustee Anderson offered a resolution, which was adopted, ordering estimates of cost for improving a portion of Fifth street from Glendale avenue to Verdugo road. Application of Richard Livingston, to do street work by private contract, was granted and fees fixed at twelve dollars for inspection and four dollars for the engineering work.

E. D. Reynolds was granted permission to do street work by private contract on L street.

An ordinance declaring the intention of the city to open a sixty-foot street along the Child's tract line (west of the Grammar school) from the southerly city limits, and extending from Second street northeasterly to Verdugo road, the same to be known as "Child's avenue," and fixing as an assessment district to bear the expenses of the work all that territory between A street and Verdugo road, was passed after third reading.

The street superintendent was instructed to locate the two-inch hydrants on the different pipe lines within the city limits, and the city engineer to furnish map of the same for use in case of fire. The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for 1000 feet of fire hose in accordance with specification number 8, bids to be opened at the meeting of July 10th. Advertisements to be inserted in the Glendale News and in a Los Angeles paper.

Messrs. Anderson, Watson and Parcher were appointed a committee to investigate fire apparatus.

The street superintendent was instructed to remove a century plant encroaching on the street at Third and B streets.

Health officer was instructed to inspect all reservoirs furnishing water to the citizens of Glendale, and make a report at the next meeting.

THE HIGH SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENTS.

The past week has been a busy one for the teachers and pupils of the High school. Two excellent entertainments have been given, both of which passed off so smoothly as to give evidence of the hard work done by all concerned.

The Class Day exercises took place on Tuesday evening and notwithstanding the fact that admission was by ticket and a charge of twenty-five cents made, the auditorium was uncomfortably crowded.

The object of the admission fee was to raise funds to aid in the advertising of Glendale through the N. E. A. publication which is to be issued by that association. The High school pupils, aided by the Board of Trade, have undertaken this work and are succeeding admirably.

The following program was well rendered some of the parts being exceptionally bright and original.

HIGH SCHOOL FACULTY CHANGES

The class of the present school year marks the departure of three members of the present faculty. Miss Warner and Miss Flood have each been granted a leave of absence for one year. Miss Warner will spend the summer in the mountains of New York and the winter will either be spent abroad or in post graduate study at Stanford university. Miss Flood sails July 6th for Germany, where she will teach English and study for six months, the remainder of the year she will use in seeing Europe, especially Italy and the Mediterranean countries. Mr. Tower, who has had charge of the Science department for the past two years, has been elected to a position in the science department of the Los Angeles Polytechnic High school. Mr. Tower will assist Dr. Gardner in developing a new course in general science, the first of the kind in the United States.

At a meeting of the board of trustees, last Saturday, it was decided that because of the crowded condition of the school to add an extra teacher to the corps.

The following elections were made: Geo. U. Moyse, principal and mathematics; K. E. Traphagen, English; Belle Hall, drawing; Jessie Moore, Alhambra, physics and chemistry, etc.; Florence MacGowan, Glendale, botany and physical geography, etc.; Sarah McLean, Lordsburg, Latin, etc.; ——— History and German.

Prof. Moyse's salary was raised from $1400 to $1800. The other teachers were also given substantial raises.

DEATH OF MRS. MARSHALL.

News was received here Thursday morning of the death of Mrs. E. A. Marshall, who formerly lived near the San Fernando road, between Glendale and Burbank and whose daughter was one of the graduates of our High school two years ago. The family moved to Porterville a few months ago and Mrs. Marshall had been brought to Los Angeles to undergo a severe surgical operation, from the effects of which she died. She was buried at Grand View cemetery at 11 o'clock yesterday (Friday) after funeral services at Breese Brothers in Los Angeles.

Pasadena has started in to have its own electric light plant. Several streets have already been installed and the expense is 3 cents per kilowatt.

It is estimated that the plant will cost the city $300,000.

This Paper is a Member of the Los Angeles County Press Association.

The Pacific Electric notifies this great influential journal that we shall not have the privilege of publishing its ad any longer. Inferentially, our contemporary on the Boulevard is an advertising medium more after its own (i)ncorporated) heart. All of which is sad, but we are not inconsolable.

What of the Future

Notwithstanding the fact that June and July are the dullest months in the year in suburban towns not located at the beaches, the conditions today in Glendale are full of encouragement. There is a good inquiry for lots and for homes. The new electric line which will probably be completed within a year, placing one of the most attractive sections of our city in close and direct communication with Los Angeles, will be a prime factor in our development, and will no doubt result in building up that section rapidly. The two electric lines running into different sections of Los Angeles, will enable home seekers to look over all portions of our valley and choose intelligently after doing so.

We have always claimed that the chief attraction of Glendale consists in its infinite variety; a variety which is caused by variations of temperature and air motion, dependent upon elevations and exposures. We can well afford to let this class of visitors obtain the fullest information before settling among us, confident that we have such a variety as will enable the most fastidious of them all to select something suitable to his fancy.

Public Sentiment

There is a force in public sentiment which is superior to the ballot box: and is, after all, the real dominant influence in our government. Its influence is variable and may be good or bad. It often is founded upon ignorance and then expresses the temporary passing mood of the people Very often it is one of those waves of popular but misplaced sympathy which is unworthily bestowed without any attempt at investigation. But generally, public sentiment, after it has passed through the feverish state chrystalizes into the condition of sanity and wisdom, the "sober second thought," which can be depended upon to exert itself effectually in the right direction.

It is generally public sentiment, and not a few officials clothed in a "little brief authority," that is responsible for a bad condition of public affairs. An example of this is afforded in the deplorable condition of San Francisco today. The public sentiment of that city has been debased. It has upheld Ruef, Schmitz, Father Yorke and others of their kind. and submitted to the subversion of all the principles of justice between man and man. The innumerable strikes which have disgraced that city in times past, would never have occured. or would have been carried on in decency and some semblance of regard for law and justice, if public sentiment had not been on the side of the strikers regardless of the merits of their cause. The people of San Francisco have been willing to walk instead of patronizing the street cars, whenever the strike leaders have ordered them to do so, and have but themselves to blame for persent conditions. An example of the beneficent influence of public opinion is given in the case of Governor Hughes in New York. It nominated him for governor, compelling the "machine" to heed its demands, and then it elected him triumphantly. As governor he found himself opposed by a hostile legislature, the "machine" in control of it, apparently, as for years past. The governor made a program and then he said, "I will appeal to the people." He issued his appeal, the people responded loyally and public opinion in the Empire State compelled the "machine" to obey its mandate and to take the govtrnor's program The opposition had a majority of votes in the legislature, but it heard the voice of the people as expressed in the press and on the rostrum, and the governor had his way; with just one exception near the beginning of the session; and that exception made the other reforms easy, for it aroused the people in protest and they spoke so emphatically that the "machine" was subservient thereafter.

The people are too apt to imagine that all the ills of the body politic can be cured at the ballot box; they vote and consider that their duty is performed, and divest themselves of all responsibility until election time comes around again.

More attention to their own political affairs between times and a close watch kept upon public servants while in office, would go far to prevent the "grafting" that is now being exposed in so many of our large cities.

The Local Management of the Pacific Electric

The policy of the Pacific Electric Railway Co., under local Glendale management, has been clearly against the best interests of Glendale. That it has been the principal factor in our development during the past three years, we grant. But we had a right to expect more of it; we had a right to expect fair treatment on the Glendale avenue side of the town, and we have not received it.

From the very beginning of the car service, there has been but slight effort made to accommodate that part of our valley which gave the road the most of its patronage; but its local managers have exerted themselves at all times to give the best and most direct service to the few patrons and the vacant lots of the north end. In brief, its policy has been real estate first, and the public afterwards—a long way afterwards. Glendale avenue was entitled, if the element of justice enters into the case at all, to direct car service from the beginning; but Mr. Brand admits that this service could not be given, because he had compelled the company to agree to run all cars direct to the north end, so much the nearer to his home and property; also near the home and property of the traffic manager, while the majority of the patrons of the road for six days in the week, were compelled to transfer. And the transfer was coupled with unnecessary annoyance to the passenger by reason of his being compelled to ask for it, the conductors evidently being instructed not to offer any, or to make any announcement which would inform straugers of the necessity of getting transfers. And now the traffic manager reports that the branch to Glendale avenue did not pay, assuming that the 300 or more daily patrons of the road will walk six additional blocks to ride on Pacific Electric cars! That they are not all doing so is evidence of the fact that from a real railroad point of view the taking up of the branch line was a mistake. From the point of view of the local management, however, it was a brilliant achievement, and the successful culmination of the plan in the mind of the great promoter, when he only asked a twenty-three months' permit for a road which a large number of people had paid money for, on the not unreasonable supposition that it was to be a permanency.

The statements which the organ of the road's promoter in Glendale terms "absolutely ahd maliciously false," and which were made in our columns last week, are founded upon documents which we possess and upon statements made by Mr. Brand himself. The document published in last week's Independent is also published in our last issue, and about it there is no dispute. Mr. Brand built the road, aided by the Tropico and Glendale committee who secured for him the rights of way in the neighborhood and raised a bonus of $4000.

His "intercession" with the railroad company to induce them to build the Fourth street line, is a new one to the community. He said, as shown in his letter to the committee, "I will build and operate the line from N street to Fourth and Glendale avenue;" hardly the language of an "interceder," and that concession was not made voluntarily.

That it was Mr. Brand's intention from the beginning to build to Casa Verdugo is not disputed, but the road first came to Glendale avenue, which the Glendale subscribers to the bonus fund were led to believe was the objective point and not a mere side track proposition. We believe it was also Mr. Brand's intention originally to have the branch line to Glendale avenue taken up. How can we doubt it, for in the classical language of Pinafore, "He himself has said it."

I.

Astronomically speaking, it is a mere step from "the Earth as a planet" to the moon, our nearest celestial neighbor, and constant companion in all our wanderings in space.

With the exception of the sun no other object in the sky has attracted such universal attention as the moon, whose ever varying appearance and beauty have from the earliest ages inspired the imagination, superstition and even worship of mankind.

The moon is about 238,000 miles distant from the earth, and although this fact has been approximately known for over two thousand years, it was only scientifically established in the middle of the 18th century. This distance is only about ten times the circumference of the earth—quite insignificant and scarcely worthy an astronomical title. Many sailors in ships, travelers in railway trains and even postmen on foot have traveled greater distances than that separating the earth from the moon. A telegram would pass it in a few seconds. Nevertheless, it is quite a long way, and a cannon ball, traveling with a constant velocity of 1640 feet a second would take 8 days and 5 hours to pass it, and a railway train, traveling constantly, which could make the circuit of the earth in 27 days, would take 38 weeks to reach the moon!

The manner in which our satellite performs its journey round the earth forms a somewhat intricate, but exceedingly interesting problem to astronomers and mathematicians and is of no less interest to ordinary mortals, entering, as it does, most minutely into all our daily life. As from the motion of the earth round the sun we derive our year of four seasons, so from the motion of the moon round the earth we derive our weeks and months. The moon's distance being about 238,000 miles, her monthly journey round the earth is about one million four hundred and ninety-four thousand miles, which she traverses in exactly 27 days, 7 hours and 43 seconds, making her speed about two-thirds of a mile per second.

The form of the lunar disc when fully illuminated is seen to be a perfect circle, from which we infer that the real form of the moon is that of a perfect sphere. The diameter of our satellite is 2162 miles, a little more than one quarter that of the earth. Its density also is less than that of the earth, being about 3½ times the density of water—that of the earth being 5½ times the same. Hence the moon's mass is only about one-eighteenth that of the earth. These facts lead to some curious considerations as to weight on our satellite. For the force of gravity on the moon is one-sixth of that on the earth; hence a pound upon the earth would be only little more than 2½ ounces on the moon; and, therefore, any force, such as muscular energy, would be six times more effective on the moon than on the earth. A man who could jump six feet from the earth, could with the same muscular effort, jump thirty-six feet from the moon.

All the evidence we have the means of obtaining, goes to prove that neither air nor water exist on the moon. So that no form of life of which we have any conception could exist there. It is the subject of much difference of opinion as to whether this condition has always existed, or whether it is a development of the later history of the moon, but there appears stronger reasons for holding the former view, in which case the moon would offer an example of a kind of arrested development—an orb "left by the creator—for wise purposes that we cannot fully know, as it were, but half formed with all the igneous foundations fresh from the cosmical fire, and with its rough cast surface, in its original state, its fire and mould-marks exposed to our view, every vestige as sharp and bright as when it left the Almighty Maker's hand."

R. G. DUN & COMPANY'S MONTHLY REVIEW OF TRADE CONDITIONS FOR MAY IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Crop reports for Southern California on the whole very satisfactory, and with present great demand for California products, the outlook is bright for a most prosperous summer. Grain crops are in excellent condition, especially that sown early; an unusually large yield in many sections is looked for. Quotations on new crop hay will be made this month. The crop is large but in strong hands, with good demand. In spite of wet spring, which retarded planting, bean acreage will equal that of last year and sugar factories promise a fairly good run.

The season promises to be the best ever for the fruitgrower. The apricot yield will be exceedingly light but peach, plum, berry and grape crops will be fully normal or more, and conditions are such that grower sells price. Canners are contracting at $65 to $70 a ton for apricots. At that price few will go to dryers.

Winter vegetables have gone forward freely, cabbage crop largest harvested; 6000 tons have been shipped realizing $120,000 to grower. The Vegetable Union is demanding $15,000 damages from the Southern Pacific railway for its failure to provide cars to move this season's celery crop. The outward movement in cantaloupes has commenced; 1000 carloads is conservative estimate. Prospects are good for big walnut crop and this is the year for the heavy olive yield, which is in the neighborhood of 3500 tons. The best grade for pickling will bring $70 a ton. The honey crop is no longer in balance. It will be a full crop. Jobber's stocks are well cleaned out.

The navel orange season is about over. Despite car shortage and slow freight service, it has undoubtedly been most profitable season ever known. Good oranges have sold at good prices all the time and the wind up has been a record-breaker. Sweets, St. Michaels and Bloods are in good demand. There is a strong inquiry for Valencias. Shipments will begin in earnest last of June. It is expected the call will be in excess of the supply. First shipments have been contracted for at $3.50 f. o. b. High prices are predicted. Lemon demand at present is not strong; $4.50 was top price for May. Growers are not shipping best grades unsold.

The cured fruit market is quiet. The spot quotations for apricots nominal, peaches firm, 9½c for choice. Prunes firm 3½c. No settled quotations for futures are being made. Packers' ideas seem to be advancing to meet that of growers. Buyers are now offering 20c for apricots; growers think price will be higher. Offers for peaches have advanced from 8c opening price to 10c. Four cents is freely offered for prunes.

There are practically no spot raisins to offer. The opening prices for futures are 2c lb. higher on seeded and layers. The price in sweat box has advanced to 5c. The estimated crop is about 60,000 tons.

The bean market is firm, the trading in seasonable proportion and under strong inquiry, limas have advanced to $4.50 f. o. b.

The opening prices for canned goods will be high, as all costs are in excess of last year. Not in years has there been so much activity in the oil fields of the state. Los Angeles is the center of large trade in oil supplies and every firm reports large increase since the beginning of the year.

Locally, building keeps up to the million dollar monthly value of permits. Business is reported satisfactory in most lines. Retail buying is free for the season. Collections are enough for all legitimate business purposes, but speculative projects are not easily financed.

Failures, 20. Liabilities, $45,000; assets, $24,000. Same month last year, 20. Liabilities, $165,000; assets, $135,000.

CITRUS FRUITS.

Mr. George Byram has taken charge of the packing house of Peckham and McKevitt. They are now working on Valencia oranges, which are only fair in quality this season. Their total shipments for the season have been 29 cars of oranges and 21 of lemons. The latter crop is good and prices are advancing rapidly since the advent of hot weather in the East.

Local Happenings

Capt. H. H. Hall, an old resident of Glendale, visited Mr. C. E. Russell and family on Thursday.

Mr. Dana Fiske, who met with a severe fall at the Tropico reservoir about ten days ago, is around town again, somewhat the worst for his experience, but is recovering.

Mr. Edgar Pack, whom we erroneously announced as convalescing last week, is still very ill and evidently is in for a regular course of typhoid. Having the best of care, however, his many friends are assured of his ultimate recovery.

Monroe Walton, son of C. M. Walton, gave a party to the sophomore class of the High School on Saturday evening, June 22d. Various games were indulged in, after which refreshments were served. A most enjoyable evening was spent. There were sixteen young people in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Parker on Monday entertained Mrs. Parker's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stoufer, Omaha. Mr. Stoufer is one of the directors of the German-American Coffee Co., and stopped a few drys in Los Angeles, enroute to San Francisco, Portland and Seattle on business relative to his company.

Rev. Stanley Ross Fisher, of Los Angeles preached to the graduates of the High School last Sunday evening at the Methodist church. Mr. Fisher spoke earnestly and with eloquence upon the necessity of living sober, righteous and Godly lives and endeavored to impress the young people with the idea of the prime necessity for these attributes in the good citizen.

At the Baptist church Sunday morning, the pastor will deliver a temperance address. There will be appropriate music. Mrs. Marple will assist the choir. Mr. Marple will sing "The Old Oaken Bucket." At the close of the service Dr. Chapman's lecture, "The Stainless Flag," will be distributed. In the evening the subject will be "Short Beds." W. F. Stone, pastor

Mr. W. C. Fraley who returned last week from an outing of several weeks, visited the Owens river valley during his absence. Mr. Fraley is much impressed with the possibilities of that region and reports that it is a section of great fertility with a most bountiful supply of water. He passed through great stretches of desert country promising nothing but mineral possibilities, but saw a great deal of good country that will be opened up by the work of Los Angeles city in constructing the Owens river aqueduct, as a good portion of the route will be paralleled by a railroad. Owens Lake is a large body of water unfit for use, as on the Eastern shore it laps over on to the desert which in that vicinity is covered with soda and sulphur deposits; while on the West there poures down from the Sierras innumerable streams of ice cold water of the purest quality. This peculiarity of the situation, a lake receiving large quantities of pure water on one side which is contaminated by mixture with immense deposits of different minerals of an alkaline character on the other explains the conflicting testimony in regard to the quality of the Owens river water, which has been noticeable in the controversy carried on in Los Angeles previous to the recent bond election.

The city of Los Angeles, will of course take the water out above the lake before it has a chance to become contaminated.

DEATH OF MRS. GREEN.

Died: At her home in Glendale, June 22, 1907, Mrs. Ida A. Green, wife of James S. Green.

Ida A. Daniels was born in Momence, Ill., Feb. 22, 1852. There her father died while she was yet an infant. The family removed to Monroeville, Ohio, where she was brought up and educated by a relative, her mother having died when she was ten years old. The Civil war took her two brothers, leaving her the last of her own immediate family.

She was married to Mr. Green at Monroeville thirty-five years ago.

The coming to California, eighteen years ago, was made necessary by a severe throat trouble which afflicted Mrs. Green, but which yielded to the beneficial influences of the climate, so that she enjoyed some years of comfortable health. But later, disease again began its work; and from the time of their coming to Glendale, in February, 1906, she was never able to take the active place in life to which her warm heart and quick sympathies always naturally led her.

Having been from girlhood a member of the Methodist church, she connected herself in Los Angeles with the First M. E. church, where her name is still on the church roll.

For many months her sufferings were very severe, quite beyond the ordinary, but she bore it with remarkable patience, and continued to take interest in the welfare of others almost to the last hour.

Near the end suffering grew less and less; and almost at the midnight hour when the Sabbath drew on, she "just slippit awa," as the Scotch so sweetly say it.

In the afternoon of June 24 the services were held in the chapel of Rosedale cemetery, Los Angeles. Rev. S. L. Ward, D. D., pastor of Glendale Presbyterian church, had charge, and Rev. J. H. Stewart, of Highland Park and Dr. McIntyre, pastor of First M. E. church, Los Angeles, took part. Miss Harris, of Glendale, sang the sweet hymn beginning:

"Lead, kindly Light, amid the encircling gloom;"

and ending:

"And with the morn, those angel faces smile,
Which I have loved long since, and lost awhile."

A beautiful tribute was given when the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of Dr. McIntyre's church, in which Mrs. Green had been an officer, in passing the casket laid upon it, each one, a sweet white carnation. Other snowy blossoms were there, notably an expensive design sent by business associates of Mr. Green.

In beautiful Rosedale the earthly part will repose till the Resurrection Morn.

THE COUNTRY CLUB HOUSE.

The building of the Country Club house, is about completed and it will be formally opened July Fourth by an informal reception during the afternoon of that day. The property of the club comprises three lots on the northeast corner of Third street and the boulevard, which gives a frontage of 150 feet on each street. Four or five months ago this corner was an unattractive sand pile, but under the transforming influences of the grader and a skilful landscape gardener, it is now most attractive to the eye, with a grassy bank sloping up from the sidewalk on either street, the lot having an elevation of four or five feet above the sidewalk, which is sufficient rise to admit of very satisfactory results.

The parkways on the streets are set to palms and geraniums, which give promise of great attractiveness. On the north side of the building is a tennis court of regulation proportions with asphalted floor. The club house is a one-story mission style structure, unique in design and perfect in all its appointments. Massive pillars of concrete, tinted like the rest of the building outside, with mission yellow, are the supports of the porch (half patio) fronting the west.

A massive oak door swings hospitably in the opening, leading to the reception hall from which entrance is made to all the principal rooms. On the right is the ladies' room, with all the conveniences of comfort and restful ease. Next on the south side and center of the building is the dining room, well windowed toward Third street, the walls with terra cotta tinting and dark oak trimmings. Back of the dining room is a kitchen, not large, but large enough, and containing all the requirements of an up-to-date culinary establishment. The kitchen opens out onto a small enclosed porch on the east end, from which the cement stairway leads to the cellar. The north side of the building is taken up principally with one large reading, reception, or living room, capable also of being turned into a lecture room, seating a hundred guests or more and opening through an alcove at the east end into a smaller room that can readily be converted into a stage. The larger room has a large fireplace artistic in design and yet suggestive of usefulness and comfort. Back of this main room are buffet, closets, cloak rooms, bath rooms, etc. The floors are of polished maple, and the coloring of walls and woodwork blends together in harmonious variety. The building has been put up by day's work and as far as possible home products of labor and material have been given the preference at all times. The result has been more satisfactory than a contract job could possibly have been, and much credit is due to Mr. E. P. Merritt and Mr. Ezra Parker, who have had charge of the work.

DEATH OF E. L. CHENEY.

Elsby L. Cheney was born at Sparta, Mich., May 31, 1876. He was married to Miss Hattie Kenyon at Grand Rapids, Mich., January 1, 1902.

Mr. Cheney, feeling the need of a change, came with his wife to California in 1903 and stopped in Los Angeles until they moved to Glendale two years ago last March. The young couple started the store on Glendale avenue below Fourth. Mr. Cheney going daily to Los Angeles, where he was employed by the electric lighting company, and Mrs. Cheney working very hard to attend to the very good business which they soon built up here.

Mr. Cheney continued at work long after he should have given up, as his health has been very poorly for a year or two. Last August he gave up, however, and went to a sanitarium for awhile, but without receiving the hoped-for relief. He died at 9 p. m. Friday, June 14th. The body was embalmed and shipped to his former home in Sparta, accompanied by Mrs. Kenyon. Before shipment services were held at the Methodist church, the Rev. C. R. Norton officiating.

Mrs. Cheney, who is well-known to our people as an energetic and particularly bright and cheerful woman, has borne up bravely in her great affliction and has the sincere sympathy of the community.

QUIET WEDDING.

On Tuesday last, at high noon, Mr. Charles G. Edwards and Miss Hattie M. LaRowe, were united at the residence of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Martin Johnson, at Hermosa Beach. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion and in a manner peculiarly in harmony with a seaside home. In the meshes of seins that covered ceiling and walls, sprays of greenery, white sweet peas and pansies were caught up and held in place while here and there among them glistened abalone shells, irridescent and beautiful. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry, of Los Angeles. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Coxley, of Fullerton, Miss Mainland, of Riverside, and Mrs. J. H. Dodge, Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McIntyre, of Glendale. The groom is our old friend, Charles G. Edmonds, of Verdugo Road, generally supposed to be a hopeless bachelor. The bride has resided for a year or two past with Mrs. J. H. Dodge, on the hill at the mouth of Sycamore Canyon. Shortly after the ceremony the newly wedded couple left for parts unknown, but will return soon and be at home to their many friends.

THE RAILROAD SITUATION.

Since our last issue the committee having the matter of the railroad on the East Side in charge, has been diligent in its efforts to get incorporated in the proposed agreement the items requested to be put therein, at the meeting of citizens last week.

Owing to the absence of Mr. Kuhrts, the engineer, and to other circumstances beyond their control, not much progress has been made, altho such conversation as they have had in regard to the matter, has been satisfactory.

Although our people naturally feel somewhat impatient in regard to the matter, they realize that there is but little that they can do to hurry up the railroad people. Meanwhile Glendale is all right and still remains on the map, although speaking of maps, we notice that in the Evening News special edition, issued on Wednesday last, the map of Southern California, although otherwise excellent, represents that portion of our town which has been established for twenty years, as "East Glendale," while the real Simon-pure blown-in-the-bottle town of Glendale is located at the junction of Brand boulevard and Fourth street.

NOTICE INVITING PROPOSALS TO FURNISH THE CITY OF GLENDALE WITH 1000 FEET OF FIRE HOSE.

Price must include the cost of delivery at Glendale.

Bidders must submit samples and terms of guarantee with their bids.

A certified check upon some bank in the County of Los Angeles to the order of the City Clerk for the sum of $50.00 must accompany each bid as a guarantee that the bidder will enter into a contract, if awarded to him, in conformity with his bid.

Miss Marie Doyle, who is ever ready as well as most proficient in arranging interesting programs for all occasions, whether they are for the schoolroom, church or public function, is preparing with the assistance of Mrs. T. W. Doyle and Mrs. John Hobbs, to give a concert at the Presbyterian church, corner of Central avenue and Laurel street, Tuesday evening. Miss Anna Augsperger will assist on the program. Miss Doyle promises most entertaining numbers and a very pleasant evening. There will be no admission at the door, but an offering will be taken, as it is the desire of Miss Doyle to aid Mr. F. C. Richardson, superintendent of the Sabbath school, in procuring funds with which to complete the furnishings in the pretty primary room of the Sabbath school portion of the church. The public is most cordially invited.

ALABAMA ASSOCIATION ENTERTAINS.

Thirty members of the popular Alabama Association of Los Angeles were most delightfully entertained Monday evening at the bungalow of James P. Scott, on Glendale avenue. The hosts who received and entertained the guests were Messrs. James P. Scott, J. T. Cates, B. Salmon, G. Brightman and J. Wheatley.

As the guests alighted from the car on Brand boulevard, the negro minstrels, who occupied a raised platform trimmed in flags and pepper boughs on the lawn surrounding the Scott residence, began playing and singing "Dixie." As the notes of this popular Southern melody greeted the ears of the Alabama delegation a cheer was given for Tropico and the clever and versatile entertainers, the five hosts. The lawn was converted into a typical Southern scene and during the evening Southern melodies were rendered by the negro minstrels. Owing to the bright moonlight and spacious grounds as well as the nature of the entertainment the guests were entertained on the lawn. Provision was made for a wiener wurst bake, at which the guests sat around a bonfire and with long pointed sticks held wiener wursts over the flames which ere long roasted them brown. Later cream and cake were served under a tall pine tree. Each guest found his fortune by following a tiny cord, at the end of which was a small envelope bearing his or her fate. Some were seen to slyly step away in couples and read the contents of the envelopes. Old-fashioned games with lively music whiled away the hours all too soon.

MISS HAGERTY IMPROVING.

Miss Emma Hagerty suffered two very painful operations at the California hospital, Monday morning. An eight-inch incision was made in the left limb and the bones of the tibia scraped, the broken ends sawed off and after drilling, were fastened with silver wire. It was found necessary to rebreak the bones of the fibula, remove the ends and wire the same as the tibia. An incision was made in the heel of the right foot and a portion of the os calcis or heel bone was removed.

Miss Hagerty is reported as slowly improving from the shock of the operation, but will be confined in the hospital for several weeks.

J. U. B.'S ENTERTAIN.

The J. U. B.'s who comprise the boys of Mrs. Alfred Engelhardt's class, in the First Methodist Episcopal church, of Tropico, pleasantly entertained at the residence of Mrs. Engelhardt, Wednesday evening.

Music and games furnished a most interesting and pleasant evening for these younger members of Tropico's society.

The party consisted of Misses Katherine Hobbs, Mabel Coleman, Nino Claver, Eva Oliver, Dorothy Hobbs and Elise Vance. Masters Edward Pittenger, Roland Brett, Owen Breeden, Rex Rhodes, Elaine Spears, Murray Breeden, Lorenzo Reichenberich and Eddie White.

TROPICO IMPROVEMENT SOCIETY.

The Tropico Improvement Association held a most interesting meeting at J. A. Logan's hall, Wednesday evening. The gas question was discussed at much length and decisive steps taken towards aiding the company which intends manufacturing gas for illuminating and general purposes for the valley. President Dr. J. O. Garman appointed a committee composed of Dwight Griswold, D. H. Imler, E. J. Morgan, J. R. Rittenhouse and E. W. Richardson to confer with the company as well as represent the Tropico Improvement Association in this important project.

CHILDREN'S DAY OBSERVANCE.

Children's Day was most appropriately observed at the First Presbyterian church, Sunday morning. The church was decorated in palm leaves, ferns and a graceful arrangement of hydrangea, producing a most pleasing effect, under the artistic touch of Miss Carrie Botts. The program was in charge of Mr. F. C. Richardson, Sabbath school superintendent. At the conclusion of the program by the children, Rev. D. M. Stuart delivered a short pleasing address.

Mrs. John Seaman most charmingly entertained the Thursday Afternoon club at her pretty bungalow on Central avenue, Thursday. The program, "A Day in the South," was in charge of Mrs. Charles Murray, who presented a most able paper on the topic as well as a huge ginger cake, typical of the ginger cake made in the Sunny South, in Mrs. Murray's childhood home.

Amusing quotations from the writings of Mark Twain were given by the club members. Mrs. W. H. Halleck read James Whitcomb Riley's popular poem, "An Old Sweetheart of Mine." Mrs. Andrew Stephenson and Miss Maude Moore rendered a number of vocal duets of Southern melodies.

At the close of the interesting program Mrs. Seaman served dainty refreshments.
